The color of your...

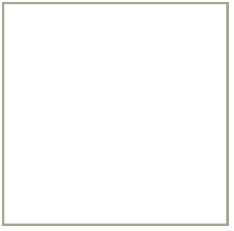

early leadership

most defining role

leadership now

leadership legacy

Ongoing Reflections

As you reflect on your leadership color story, you might also consider:

- Does the relationship between these colors evoke any feelings, reactions, or memories?
- Are these the colors you think others would choose for you or expect you to choose
- Were there any colors that felt surprising or out of character?
- Are there others seasons of your leadership that could be valuable to capture in color?
- When you look at this personal palette, how does it make you feel?

Be inspired by other color stories on "The Chromologist" podcast by Farrow & Ball at www.farrow-ball.com/us

The Chromologist