

Reflection

- Notice 1-2 areas of clear tension, conflict, or work avoidance activity that you've seen surface as you seek to move the work. Become conscious of where and how you became aware there was/might be an issue, who is involved, and then think how you would summarize what is at stake/in play on each side of the issue if pressed to articulate what is going on there.

Action:

- Find or cultivate a PARTNER and define/enact a plan for engaging them to help you move the work one step forward.
- Connect with your Consultation Partner for a 30 minute check-in. Catch up with each other and touch on something that you've carried from Nashville into your work. Same Pairs until January (they will change at next meeting for the Spring):
  - Laura B | Laura T
  - Cynthia | Matt
  - Robin | Zack
  - Asher | Mike

Read:

- Pearce (pdf): p. 100-109 "Acknowledging Resistance, commonality, and personal motivation"; p. 115-127 "Building Shared Context and Knowing the History of the Issue"
- Parks: Chapter 6 "What Endures"
- Heifetz/Linsky: Chapter 3 "Get on the Balcony" plus p.75-90 of Chapter 4 "Thinking Politically"